 1. Smart Shopping—Can you believe the average family throws out $1600 worth of food each year? It's true! So, whether you're at a farmer's market or your local market, save money and reduce waste this summer by buying items with less packaging and making a shopping list to avoid impulse purchases. For storage and other tips, visit our website.
 2. BYOBag—Add a reminder to your shopping list to bring your own reusable shopping bag, and be sure to keep a reusable shopping bag in your car for unplanned trips.
 3. Reusable Containers—Portion-sized reusable containers and cloth napkins are perfect for packing your family's food and beverages. Whether you're going for a hike on Mt. Tam, heading to the park for the afternoon or packing a school lunch, reusable containers are the best way to hold treats for the trip.
 4. Food Waste Composting—Remember that food scraps, including eggshells and chicken bones, can go right into your green cart. Food-soiled paper napkins, pizza boxes and coffee filters should be tossed in the green cart as well. Your hauler turns your green cart contents into rich soil.
